LIVE STOCK NEWS.

Items of Interest to Stockmen, Gathered from Reliable Sources.

Prescott Courier: Gnats are said to be very troublesome on some cattle ranges. They work on the eyes of young calves, several of which they have almost blinded.

Northwestern Live Stock Journal: One of the most extensive irrigating ditches in the territory will be put in by parties connected with the Union cattle company. It is said that it will be about one hundred miles in length.

An exchange says: The hides of Galloway cattle, if taken off in the winter, will make fine "buffalo" robes if properly dressed, or at least will make a good substitute. One on exhibition in Denver is much admired for its beauty.

Texas Stockman: It is reported that two Englishmen, representing two million dollars capital, are now in Texas and propose to establish a line of steamers specially fitted up for carrying Texas dressed meats to foreign ports. "We told you so."

Socorro Bullion: It is reported that D. Covert, of Denver, will bring into this county shortly 10,000 head of cattle. Mr. Covert will show good judgment by first ascertaining how much vacant range there is in this section of New Mexico.

Dodge City, Kansas, Journal: Five hundred and five head of cattle shipped from Osage county to Baltimore, Maryland, were loaded the day they got there for Liverpool, and by this time the nabobs over there are eating nice, fat, juicy Kansas beef.

Clarendon Northwest Texan: Henry Hamburg and Charles Rath, of Mobetie, and Harry T. Groom, of the Franklyn cattle company, last week purchased 26,880 acres of land in Ochiltree county. This land was sold by an execution, and was purchased for thirty cents an acre.

San Angelo Times-Enterprise: J. M. Miller, jr., of Erskine, saw a car load of three year old Durham "natives," in St. Louis, that averaged 1,509 pounds, which sold at six cents. That is $90.54 a head, over three times as much as the best Texas beeves of the same age would bring.

Albuquerque Journal: The removal of the great cattle herds from the Arapahoe and Cheyenne lands will contribute largely to the taxable wealth of New Mexico. We will get many thousands of these cattle, and we want all we can get, provided their owners secure ranges for them and do not trespass upon the rights of others.

Medora (Dak.) Cowboy: Orders came from the Marques, Tuesday, to begin killing a hundred to a hundred and twenty-five cattle per day. This will set the works running on full time. If the present contract for beef holds permanently, the slaughter house and cooling rooms will be enlarged.

Rapid City (Dak.) Republican: The VVV outfit, composed of 4,000 head of cattle, from the Indian territory, in charge of James Moore, foreman, passed through the city en route for Belle Fourche, in northwest Wyoming. The herd, which is owned by John Clay, jr., left the Indian territory June 25.

Socorro Bullion: Colonel J. W. Dwyer, of Colfax, New Mexico, has the only extensive farm or ranch in the world that is completely encircled by telephone. The top strand of his barbed wire fence is used to transmit the sound. In his vast field, where graze thousands of meat cattle, should an animal jump the fence or disturb a wire, or should a villain cut a strand the signal bell in the house gives the alarm. When the colonel arises in the morning, to satisfy himself that his lowing herds are all at home, he steps to the telephone and ascertains that the circuit is complete. If so, all is well.

It is claimed by ranch owners in various parts of our territory that they have room for many thousand head of cattle yet, and that they are ready and willing to receive a part of the cattle now being driven out of the Indian territory.

Albuquerque Journal: Eighteen thousand head of cattle from the Indian territory, destined for Arizona, will soon begin to pass over the Atlantic & Pacific road, and will be unloaded at Ash Fork. They are a part of the vast herds recently ordered by the president to be drawn out of the Indian territory.

Albuquerque Journal: If the sickness that has just made its appearance among the cattle on Croson's ranch, below this city, is of a fatal and contagious kind, as seems probable, the governor should at once exercise all the powers at his command that may be necessary to prevent the spread of the disease. Eternal vigilance in such matters is the price of healthy cattle.

A Fort Scott, Kansas, dispatch of the 14th says: Two train loads of cattle from the Indian territory, numbering 900 head, passed by this city to-night, en route for Chicago, being the first to make their exit from the territory under the president's order. These cattle were brought over the St. Louis, Fort Scott & Wichita railroad from the ranch of the Austin cattle company, 165 miles west of Anthony, Harper county.

Tom Greene Times-Enterprise: While we cannot rejoice at anything that contracts the market for Texas cattle, we confess to a grim sort of satisfaction over the fact that Colonel Bob Hunter and other big cattlemen who have been endeavoring to prevent Texas cattle from passing through the territory, are now getting a dose of their own medicine. Had Texas cattle been let alone, nobody would have noticed the Indian territory.

Kansas City Indicator: Mr. J. W. Sullivan, of Prescott, Arizona, was a caller yesterday. This gentleman, in connection with Mr. Wm. Garland, has just shipped from Ash Fork, A. T., to Mulvane's ranche, in Wabaunsee county, Kansas, 600 feeding steers and expects 300 more to arrive this week. He reports that A. B. Matthews, of Kansas City, had within a day or two purchased in Arizona 1,400 steers of the same class for his ranch near Kinsley, Kansas.

Socorro Bullion: The percentage of cattle losses on western ranges is not larger than in the states. This statement, although it may seem a little fishy to eastern people, is susceptible of the clearest proof. The natural loss on eastern cattle, the year round, will not fall short of four or five per cent, while it is not uncommon for the loss on range cattle to fall far below these figures. The present year, for instance, the loss on acclimated range cattle will not exceed one per cent.

Chicago Drovers' Journal: It is understood that very soon the Marques de Morse will discontinue his system of fresh meat refrigerators along the whole line of the Northern Pacific. This is done for the purpose of concentrating the whole volume of business for the Chicago markets, and hereafter the whole product of the immense slaughtering houses at Medora will be shipped to Chicago and terminal points in sealed refrigerator cars. In the cold storage houses the Marques last year constructed, he had invested $500,000.

P. B. Brannen, of Prescott, a gentleman well and favorably known throughout the territory, died at Beaver creek, Sunday morning, August 16. Deceased was a native of Canada, and had been a resident of Arizona for 11 years.

Casimero Grijalbo, a Mexican who keeps a trading store eight miles from Gallup, has mysteriously disappeared. His friends are of the opinion that he has been foully dealt with, as he had considerable money in his possession when last seen.

The Baltimore (Md.) Sun says that out of 3,377 murders perpetrated during the year 1884, the total number of murderers executed was but 313, and of that number 210 met their death by lynch law, and only 103 by legal process.

The Tonto basin country, lying in the southeastern part of Yavapai county, and containing a population of over one thousand people, is entirely devoid of mail facilities. It requires from one to two weeks for a mail to reach there from the county seat.

An exchange says that about eighteen miles from old Fort Wingate, New Mexico, at the base of the Continental divide, there is a spring which has always been noted for its cold water. Some scientific researchers recently ran a tunnel in on the vein of water for a distance of fifty yards, and came upon a solid bed of ice.

The treasurer of the Territorial Board of Education, at their meeting held in Prescott last week, reported about $6,000 in the territorial fund subject to apportionment, but owing to no census returns being received from Apache and Pima counties the distribution was postponed until the second Monday in September.
